What advice do you give to athletes?

Know where your belongings are in transition – make sure to visualize your run out of the water and how to locate your bike, same again for T2. We also recommend that you familiarise yourself with all of the entry and exit points of transition prior to racing. These are also highlighted with flags.

Arrive early enough to give yourself plenty of time to prepare. Remember there is a lot to do before a race and we check in every bike to make sure it's safe and has the race stickers in the right places, this takes time so please allow for this and the inevitable toilet queue.

When should I eat the morning of the race?

Everyone develops their own strategy however, we recommend ensuring you have your last main meal at least 2 hours prior to your start time. Keep a drinks bottle close by to sip on prior starting so you stay hydrated. Take a gel or two 15-30 minutes before the start; if you have practised this in your training.

How often should I take gels?

This is a brilliant guide from High5:

How do competitors get a DQ in the race?

Be familiar with the current BTF rules. In particular, do not cross the centre line of the road (ride on the correct side at all times). You need to wear clothing that covers your midriff and do not drop litter!

What gets you a penalty?

Penalties are usually for drafting. Be familiar with the current BTF rules. Once you pass someone, it's their responsibility to drop back. There are motorbike referees on the course. Repeat drafters will get a DQ.

What is drafting and it is allowed?

The ITU defines drafting as: The technique of riding in a pack during the cycling event. The drafting zone is 10m from the front wheel of the bike in front of you.

In simple terms drafting is a technique to increase your speed or decrease your effort by lowering your wind resistance. Drafting is not allowed in any OSB Events triathlons.

FAQS

Where should I start on the swim?

Each wave will be around 240 people and will spread out really quickly, so you'll have a lot of space to swim. If you are quick you should start at the front of your wave. If you expect to be slower and like your own space or are nervous then start at the back or the side of your wave.

What strokes are permissible?

Any stroke is allowed in triathlons as long as you are not using an artificial means to propel yourself through the water. Backstroke is not recommended as this is generally a sign of distress and water safety may come out to assist you if they see you swimming on your back. If you think you will swim backstroke you will need to inform us prior to the start of your wave so we can inform the swim safety team.

The most common and efficient stroke is freestyle. Breaststroke, however, is often performed by people who either have trouble with freestyle or are resting or sighting.

Can I use tri bars?

Yes, tri bars, disc brakes and disc wheels are fine to use in all of our non-drafting triathlons.

I am unable to take part; can I transfer or sell my place to a friend?

Unfortunately, not. It's not within our event policy to make this possible - our event terms and conditions set out our refund policy.

If you wish to withdraw from the event, then please follow the guidelines contained within our 'Terms & Conditions of Entry'. Please note that under no circumstances will any race credits be issued without following these guidelines. No race credits will be issued to those withdrawing after the withdrawal date of 3rd May 2019.

Can I change my relay team members?

Yes, you can, either via the online entry system or by contacting our office on 01522 699950.

What can family do while I am racing?

The Nottingham Sprint Triathlon is part of a fantastic weekend of racing which will see over 2,500 competitors taking part in a variety of triathlon events, so why not come and watch some racing on the other days.

We will have a number of retailers who will be exhibiting throughout the 3 days, more details to be confirmed.

There are certain items which you will need: a swimming costume or swimming trunks, swimming goggles are also highly recommended but not compulsory (a swim hat will be provided). A road worthy bike and an ANSI/BS approved cycling helmet: these are available from most sports shops prices start from around £20.

Will there be time to get changed between disciplines?

You can get changed between disciplines, however this will add to your transition time – which most athletes try to make as short as possible.

Nudity is not allowed in transition, so if you will make sure you are covered before changing.

It is not essential, but a Tri suit or two piece that you can do all three disciplines in without having to change makes life a lot easier.

What sort of bike do I need?

You are able to use any roadworthy bike. We have had people racing in our events on everything from a mountain bike, hybrid (with basket), road bike through to a specific time trial machine. So long as it is roadworthy you will be able to race on it.

All bikes must have bar ends or at the very least be taped, as unprotected bar ends can cause horrific injuries in an accident.

Do I have to wear a helmet?

Yes. If you are not wearing a helmet, you will not be able to race.

Wearing a helmet is for your safety and every race you take part in requires the use of a correctly fitting helmet. It must sit straight and snugly on your head and the strap should not be hanging loose under your chin. Your helmet must be fastened before you touch your bike in transition and until you re-rack your bike or you may yourself having a chat with the event referee or potentially getting a penalty.

The bike course will be clearly marked with yellow arrows and the run course will have orange arrows. The course will be signed the day before so if you would like to familiarise yourself you can follow the route.
